Notice to Aetna Members

Dear Patient:

This is to inform you that the services rendered to you by Independent Physical Therapy (IPT) may not be covered by your insurance company after your 25th visit.

When verifying your benefits with your insurance company it is stated that a review of medical necessity determination based on your plan of benefits and medical records will be conducted at a specified point in time during the course of physical therapy treatment. Generally medical review is not needed for these services if the course of treatment does not exceed 25 visits. Claims for Physical Therapy services beyond the 25th visit are subject to medical review, even if the member's plan has unlimited benefits, and even if the services are provided by a participating provider.

In that review if your insurance company determines that your physical therapy services were not medically necessary and deny your claims, they will not pay for those dates of service. The unpaid balance will be your financial responsibility.

If you still wish to continue your physical therapy after the 25th visit with your signature below you understand and agree that if your insurance company denies payment you will be fully responsible for services rendered.
